

AMENDMENTS TO THE ABSTRACT:

Replace the abstract with the following rewritten version:

Sound receiver for an implantable hearing aid, in particular for a cochlea implant, characterized ~~by the fact, that~~where the sound receiver is an implantable electromechanic transducer, which converts the force resulting of an accelerated mass into an electric signal. The sound receiver provides a mounting mechanism on at least one of the ossicles in the ossicle chain-(fig. 1).